Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

Remember that good Yankee slogan: "Don't sell America short." With all news from the various war fronts just now a rather bullish character, there is no need to revive the slogan, but there are a lot of people we can recall, who were selling the U. S. short in December and January, who are now no longer bearish and who would like to forget that short season when they were unloading their chests on the short side.

The most bullish piece of news in many a long day is the decision of the WPB not to authorize any more plant, or plant extension, building, but to pour the nation's resources in coal and steel and other war materials in the plants already operating or about to begin operations, in order to give the Axis everything we can this year, 1942. This column has for nearly a year predicted that the war would be much shorter than a lot of pessimists (short sellers) in Washington warned it would be. A great many people who remember the World War No. 1. agreed with this writer. When the first little wrinkle appears in the German belly the nation begins to crack. The first wrinkle appeared several months ago. A horse trainer says: "You can't make a hungry horse run, much less win, a race.

The news that comes from Germany, by grapevine, by word of mouth from diplomats who have just returned to this country, and by careful examination of Hitler and Goebel broadcasts, and by way of Russia, even though Russian news may be properly discounted, is closely parellel in its major features to the news that leaked out of Germany in the spring of 1918. Empty stomach rumblings precede louder and louder national grumblings. Hitler is not done yet, far from it. But as Winston Churchill pointed out recently, the United Nations can see the ridge ahead, which is another way of saying that Hitler's race is almost done.

Speaking of food scarcity within the German reich, we must needs recall that the last nations plundered were Yugo-Slavia and Greece last fall. The last rich nation plundered was France. We can guess that most of that loot is digested. It is probably true that no nation on the German periphery or under the German heel, is better fed than the Germans. Nearly all of them are on starvation rations. The point Germany reached her plundering limit many months ago. Even further invasion of Russia, under the scorched earth policy of Russian leaders, would pay no food dividends to Germany.

We bear in mind also that Hitler, when the first full scale invasion was made promised the German people a short war. That is one promise we believe Hitler made in good faith. He did not forsee the huge, swift expenditure of aviation and other gasoline grades. That a short war was indicated is also implicit in the kind of planes used at first. These early German planes were almost entirely without instruments. They were built for a short life and a merry one—of bombing defenseless populations, with the confident expectation Germany would be victorious, following such demonstrations of frightfulness as those inflicted on Rotterdam and Wasaw. But even though Hitler's Germany made preparations for war doing from 1933 to war's beginning in 1939, the long preparations were not sufficient for a long war.

Many observers believe that the chief reason Hitler turned on Russia was the fact that he was then much concerned over his rapidly diminishing supply of oil. His reserve stocks were disappearing far faster than he could replace them. So he took the chance of a drive into Russia. The odds are now definitely against German victory on that front. Oil, he must have, and if he can't get new supplies he loses the war. In the view of this writer Hitler is now in practically the same spot that Von Ludendorf was in the summer of 1918.

No one can say, of course, that the war will end this fall. Indeed, it is quite possible that tapering off on the Pacific side may require some months after Germany is through. But there are many indications that Hitler is nearing inevitable defeat. There is every reason for a bull market in U. S. war bonds. Let no one persuade readers of this column to sell America short.

MAY MINING ISSUE

Nugget Survey Reveals Nevada County Mining Employment Situation

Nevada Coutyans know employment in the gold mining industry of the Nevada City-Grass Valley area has dropped considerably but the exact figures are not available because the Empire-Star Mines, Ltd., which normally employs 1,000 men at its four mines, prefers to remain silent on its employment figures.

The Idaho Maryland Mines Corporation on May 1st had 620 men employed, a drop of nearly 100 since the first of the year.

On the first of the year, the Empire-Star Mines, Ltd., had 400 men at the Emuire Mine, 275 at the North Star, 115 at the Pennsylvania Mine and 60 at the Zeibright. The Murchie Mine, also operated by the Empire-Star Mines, has closed.

If the Empire-Star properties suffered an employment loss corresponding to the Idaho-Mrayland Mines Corporation, it is probable the total employment at the Empire-Star mines is in the vicinity of 650 men.

The Nugget for seven years has been printing monthly the payroll figures from the operating mines in Nevada County. The refusal of the Empire-Star officials to reveal figures this month marks the first time during that seven year period that this pape cannot present an accurate picture of the employment and payroll figures of the mining industry in this county.

Employment dropped slightly at the Central and Banner Mines of the Lava Cap group during the past month.

The Omega Hydraulic Mine continues to operate several monitors full blast with 38 men employed. The Innis dredge at the Malakoff diggings near Bloomfield employs 17 men and the Relief Hill Hydraulic Mine has 12 men employed.

Idaho-Maryland May Enter War Metals Field

A possibility the Idaho-Maryland Mines Corporation may enter war minerals production field is seen with the confirmation by the company, leading producer of gold in California for the past several years, that several essential war mineral deposits in this area have been inspected.

However, it is reported, none of the deposits inspected have been taken over by the Idaho-Maryland Corporation.

One group of claims inspected were those belonging to Luke Williams along Bear River. The claims were reported to have a deposit of lead and zinc but a preliminary inspection by Rollin Farmin, head engineer for the Idaho-Maryland, apparently did not warrant a large scale production.

Farmin is scheduled to reexamine chrome deposits on Champion Mine ground below Nevada City. The engineer had inspected the deposits recently but wanted to wait until good weather arrived to conduct a more thorough examination.

The New Brunswick Mine mill has been closed by the Idaho-Maryland Corporation while new concrete ore bins and other surface improvements are made. New Brunswick ore is hoisted through the Old Brunswick shaft and trucked to the Idaho Maryland Mine mills for treatment.

Employment figures as of May 1st at the Idaho-Maryland roperties reveals the compeny employs 620 men. There are 265 underground at the Idaho-Maryland, 153 underground at the New Brusnwick, 155 on the surface and in the mills at the two mines, 40 on the private operating payroll and seven at the Syndicate Mine.

NEWMONT CONTRACTS TO SUPPLY GOVT. HUGE COPPER TONNAGE

Commencing about January, 1943, the Newmont Mining Corporation has contracted to supply the Metals Reserve Company, a government agency, with approximately 6,800 tons of copper annually for a period of three years from its Grey Eagle property seven miles north of Happy Camp in Siskiyou County N.ewmont Company has provided about $1.-000,000 for development and equipment at the mine.

Robert J. Hendricks, formerly general manager of the Murchie Mine here, is in charge at the Grey Eagle and the crew consists mainly of men who formerly lived in Nevada City.

The production plan includes mining of all ore which under existing conditions appears to be of commercial grade. Construction of a concentrating plant capable of treating 600 tons of copper ore daily is proceeding, with flotation to be employed for recovery of the metal.

Ore reserves are estimated at about 1,600,000 tons averaging around six per cent copper. The gossan capping carries gold. It is reported that development of new territory is planned along the mineral zone which is said to vary in width from ten to eighty feet.

GOVERNMENT SEEKS ALL OUT PRODUCTION OF COPPER RESOURCES

An all out drive to bring California's copper resources into full wartime production was inaugurated by the state bureau of war minerals production this week at the request of the copper branch of the War Production Board.

Frank A. Ayer, copper branch official, asked that a complete list of copper producers in the state be forwarded immediately to WPB officers in Washington.

He indicated the national need for copper is far exceeding current production and said the WPB hopes to bring California's dormant properties as well as operating mines, into full production.

State mineralogists said the state's "copper belt" extends from Nevada County to Fresno County on the west foothills of the Sierra Nevada mountains. Few properties are now in production.

NANCY JONES WITH UKELELE CHEERS YANKS AND TOMMIES

From Red Cross headquarters in Washington, D. C. comes another story of the services which Nancy Mott Jones of this city is rendering to both Tommies and Yanks in a hospital in North Ireland. The very reserved and prim English nurses were somewhat flabbergasted it seems by the free and easy friendliness of the Yanks.

The British nurses, perplexed at first by such salutations as "Hello, Sis!" "Hiya Duchess!" "Hello, Queen Bee!" have taken up American slang themselves and become fast friends of their American allies.

Miss Lusa Soul, American Red Cross representative in Great Britain states that even the matron twinkles with delight when she hears herself called by the nickname, "Queen Bee."

"Fortunately," Miss Soul said, "there have been very few bad cases of sickness among American troops.

"Miss Nancy Mott Jones of Nevada City, Calif., is the Red Cross recreation worker stationed at one Northern Ireland hospital. Her job is to maintain a recreation room at the hospital and to help keep the convalescent patients from getting bored. Nancy visits each ward every day, helps the soldiers with their problems and sings to the accompaniment of her ukele.'

In recalling a tour of duty which she spent with Miss Jones, Miss Soul said, "I went with Nancy to surgical ward. Here British and American patients were mixed. Engaged in a lively argument were Private Fred Hugo, of New Jersey, and a short, dark curly headed boy of 19 known to the ward as "Tich". Fred Hugo had a plaster cast on his right foot, the result, he told me, of a tussle with a case of payonets in which the bayonets won.

"Sitting on a chair between two doughboys from New Jersey, Private Joe Mannino, who had his appendix removed, and Private Pete Curto, was a red-headed Scotsman known to the ward, of couse, as 'Jock.' His real name is Sergeant Houston, of the British Army, and he had recently had his leg amputated as the result of an accident, but his voice was as good as ever and before long he was entertaining us with Scottish songs. Then out came Nanacy's ukelele and a general sing-song got under way."

RALLY DRAWS LARGE CROWD

The War Savings Bond rally held in the Elks Hall here last night drew a large crowd.

The rally was held preparatory to the start of a campaign in this city to secure pledges for the monthly purchase of war bonds and stamps.

An elaborate entertainment program arranged by Mrs. Paul Kemper, chairman of the War Savings Bond Committee here, was presented. Speakers included Superior Judge George L. Jones, Mayor Ben Hall and Clay Gaines of the Treasury Department.

600 Will Participate In Pageant

Six hundred Nevada City Unified School District children will participate in the May Day pageant to be presented on the high school football field here tomorrow afternoon.

The public is invited to attend the fete. There will be no admission charge.

One of the outstanding events will be the crowning of Dorothy Roberts as Queen of the May. The queen will have an attendant from each of the grades of the high school, local elementary school and You Bet and Sweetland schools.

The pageant will be resented under the direction of Mrs. Carl Libbey, musical instructor of the Nevada City Unified School District. There will be folk and other dances, band numbers, patriotic songs and in conclusion the participants will form a huge V for Victory.

NEVADA CITY'S RED CROSS KIT QUOTA IS 200

The Nevada City Chapter American Red Cross has been notified that the government has asked for 300,-000 comfort kits for the army and that the material for the bags will be furnished. The Nevada City quota is 200 and the local Red Cross asked to have the bags filled with the following articles:

Small soap box and soap. Deck of playing cards. Package of cigarettes. Shoe polishing cloth. Small pencil with metal cap. Package of envelopes and paper. Package of chewing gum. Pair of tan shoe laces 40. Water proof match box if available. Package of double edge razor blades. Small book, (pocket size) detective or humorous. Sewing case with buttons, etc.

A greeting card will add to pleasure of the recipient.

To expedite the work of the Production Committee it has been arranged that they purchase the necessary articles and resell them without profit to those citizens wishing to provide a kit. Materials will be ready for the cause by next Tuesday afternoon May 26th at the work room in the National Hotel. Approximate cost of the filling will be $1.00 which does not include the playing cards and the committee will accept second hand decks if in good condition and suggest also that the pocket size book might be contributed from home supply. It is hoped that the various organizations will arrange to accept portions of this quota, and report by next Tuesday to Mrs. McCraney.

Caught in the Riffles

Someone with an idea to fabricate a gadget boosting the local sidewalk displayed flags beyond the reach of snuffling dogs would receive wholehearted thanks from local businessmen.

The flags now displayed in front of the various business houses are subjected to numerous abuses, including dogs, automobile bumpers and dirt from the gutters.

The Nevada City Defense Council's cleanup and salvage drive is certainly productive of results.

Yesterday the city crew gathered eight truckloads of salvagable material, ranging from bodies of old model cars to newspapers and magazines of all sort.

The unexpected deluge of material that may be useful in the war effort will probably force the continuation of the drive into next week.

Fifteen days ago Dan O'Rourke, retired San Francisco fireman, playing pinochle in Grass Valley, held a sequence, three hundred pinochle and a hundred aces, possibly the rarest hand obtainable. The excitement of holding such a hand caused a heart attack and yesterday O'Rourke died in the Jones Memorial Hospital in Grass Valley.

The bay family which rented the Tickell home for $100 per month brought with them to Nevada City their two Japanese servants.

The Japanese were warned by the chief of police for their safety, to stay off the streets of Nevada City.

Grass Valley and Nevada City, despite their closeness to the cantonment, are outside the Japanese restricted area. One family of Japanese is living on the Auburn Highway below Grass Valley.

A tourist taking a picture at Donner Summit was fired upon by a sentry when he failed to heed the soldier's command to halt.

"If a sentry orders you to halt, you had better halt," Major Edward A. Baer, intelligence officer of the central defense area, said, in discussing the incident.

The tourist, from Wyoming, took pictures in the vicinity of Donner Lake, in Nevada County and then started to drive away. The army sentry ordered him to halt and opened fire when his order was not obeyed.

The sentry then commandeered a passing car, halted the tourist, confiscated his films and allowed him to proceed.

The tourist is quoted as saying he did not know what the restricted area signs posted throughout the Donner region were all about.

Mining Assessment Suspension Bill Received From Englebright

The Nugget has received from Congressman Englebright a copy of the bill suspending mining assessment work this year.

"Knowing of your interest in the legislation providing for the suspension of assessment work on mining claims during the years 1941-42," Englebright states: "it gives me a pleasure to enclose herewith a copy of Public Law 542 so that you may be advised as to the details.

"This measure was passed with considerable difficulty due to the adverse report of the Interior Department on the legislation; but it gave me a pleasure to support the same and assist in having the measure passed by congress.

The bill as passed by the Senate and House of Representatives and signed into law by President Roosevelt. follows:

Providing for the suspension of annual assessment work on mining claims held by location in the United States, including the Territory of Alaska.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the provision of section 2324 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, which requires on each mining claim located, and until a patent has been issued therefor, not less than $100 worth of labor to be performed or improvements aggregating such amount to be made each year, be, and the same is hereby, suspended as to all mining claims, in the United States, including the Territory of Alaska, during the years beginning at 12 o'clock meridian July 1, 1941, and ending at 12 o'clock meridian July 1, 1943: Provided, That every claimant of any such mining claim, in order to obtain the benefits of this Act, shall file, or cause to be filed, in the office where the location notice or certificate is recorded, on or before 12 o'clock meridian July 1, 1942, and July 1, 1943, a notice of his desire to hold said mining claim under this Act: Provided further. That such suspension of assessment work shall not apply to more than six lode-mining claims held by the same person, nor to more than twelve lode-mining claims held by the same partnership, association, or corporation.

POSTAL EMPLOYEES DESERVE WAGE INCREASE

Everyone is aware of the fact that wages in practically all industries have greatly increased in the past few years, and, that along with this increase has come a corresponding rise in the cost of living.

But no salary increase has been granted since 1925 to the postal workers, who day in and day out, in bad weather as well as in good, render an invaluable service to the American people. And during the depression years the postal employees received a flat cut of 15 per cent and an additional payless furlough, which approximated a total loss of 28 per cent.

Now pending in Congress is the Sweeney Salary Reclassification Act, a bill providing for modest increases in postal wage schedules. The bill has been referred to the House post offices and post roads committee.

For some reason or other the committee has not acted upon the bill, which was introduced by Representative Sweeney on January 28th of this year.

There has been a growing disparity between what postal employees are paid and that of the employees of other government services. Moreover, many post offices in the country already are feeling the pinch of conditions which developed in the last war, namely a lack of personnel because of the more attractive jobs available in other government departments, in the state services or in war industries.

The postal employees' loyalty and patriotism has been demonstrated conclusively through the following performances outside their regular duties:

Compiling the records for social security; registering aliens; compiling list of the unemployed: delivering the veterans service bonds and selling war bonds and stamps.

The percentage of postal employees in the military service is as large as any comparable group of employees, which spikes the belief of some that they are exempt.

The modest increase asked by the postal employees in their wages is highly desirable in due justice to the cause it favors.

The House post offices and post roads committee should take action on the wage schedule increase bill. Friends of postal employees are respectfully requested to write a letter to the Hon. Milton A. Romjue, chairman of the post offices and post roads committee. House Office Bldg., Washington, D. C., asking that he call a meeting of that committee to consider this meritorious bill.

FREEZING WAGES

Henry Ford is an industrial genius and America is fortunate in having such a man on its side during a war of this magnitude.

Ford has turned his entire resources into war production, including the building of new units such as the Willow Run plane production plant.

The usual thing happens, however. The CIIO-United Automobile Workers union demands a flat increase of one dollar per day in wages. The Ford Motor company in retaliation demands of the government that the wages of all Ford workers be frozen for the duration of the war.

Whether the unionists are justified or not in their demands for wage increases, the Ford company puts forward an unanswerable argument when it reminds the workers that the sole customer at the present time is the United States government.

In demanding wage increases from war production plants the workers are only asking for advances from themselves which they must pay back in the form of taxes.

Prices have been frozen. Wages must be frozen. Nothing must interfere with winning the war.

POISON GAS

Adolf Hitler and his Axis associates have had grim warning from Winston Churchill, prime minister of Great Britain, that if the Nazis start using poison gas the United Nations will retaliate.

No other course would be open to the supporters of democracy if the Axis started making gas attacks on a widespread scale. The only defense against poison gas is an offense with the same kind of weapon. War is horrible enough without adding gas to the long list of death weapons that are used. But very likely it will be brought into the conflict by the Axis nations, along with other equally heinous methods of exterminating human life and spreading suffering through the world.

JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder when folk speak of life
And this and that and something more,
For when upon this mundane sphere,
I'd like to make a decent score.
But daily living, some assert
Is quite a complicated duty,
Which may become a thing of joy
If we can only give it grace and beauty.

I wonder at the innumerable definitions of life which are on the market today. We are sometimes confounded by the various theories and concepts of life and, the piled up masses of expert and amateur advice which we receive if we venture to ask, "how may one live as a worthy citizen—a help and not a hindrance to those about him?"

Now, I am one of the amateurs; I don't pretend to know what philosophy of life is best suited to your needs, or how you should order your life from day to day. However I do believe that the art of adjustment must not be overlooked by any of us, that is, if we wish to live worthily.

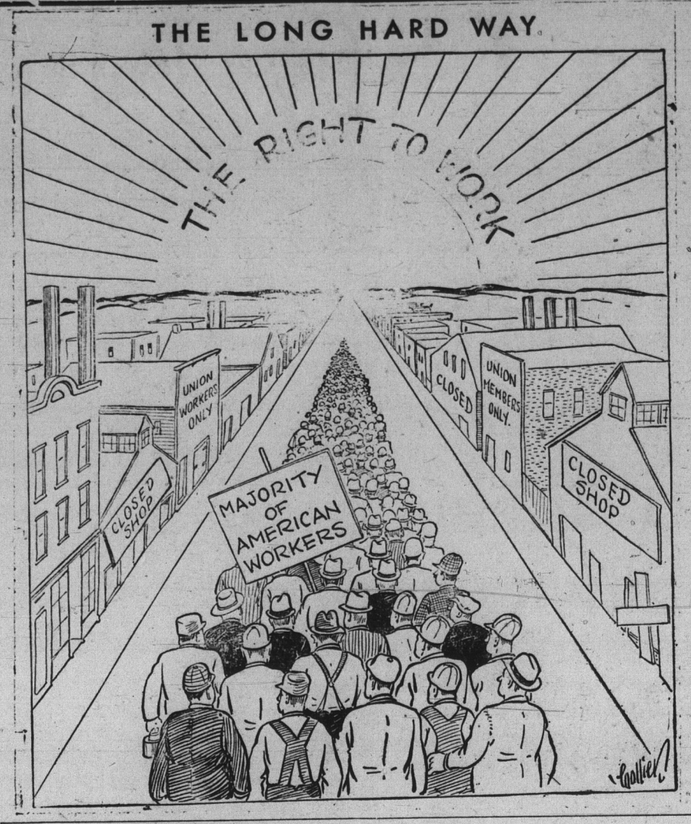

At this period of world history, adjustment seems to be the most important factor and it demands our conscientious consideration. Our lives have been changed from the ways of peace to those of all out war. Our homes are not the same, our habits are different, many of our tasks are new and strange. This is certainly a time that tries men's souls—women's too, and if we come through with profit to ourselves and to our country, great adjustments must be made.

There is the important matter of self sacrifice; the sacrifice of time which we would prefer to devote to other than war duties, the sacrifice of pleasures and creature comforts. How are we meeting these demands upon our powers of adjustment? That is the question and upon the answer given, may depend in a great degree the value of our services to the country in her time of need.

Adjustment shouldn't be so hard, and we have many inspiring examples to follow when we strive to acquire the art for ourselves. Mothers, wives and sweethearts all about us are adjusting their lives to the absence of loved ones, smiling through their tears and doing all within their power to further the cause of patriotic endeavor. Surely those of us who have been asked to contribute so little to the great cause, must not frown and speak complainingly of self sacrifice A.djustment is the order of the day, and adjustment is facilitated when we place something else in the place of that which we have been asked to give up.

Mothers, wives and sweethearts cannot supplant the dear ones who have gone from home with anything of equal value. The vacant places in their hearts will be vacant till the boys come home, but they are carrying on, in the home, in the shop, in various capacities and with their brave examples before us, let us be ashamed to complain of self sacrifice.

A ban on silk hosiery, sugar rationing, shortages of rubber, oil and gas, less leisure, curtailment of pleasures and amusements? To dignify these trifling inconveniences by calling them "hardships," is the ultimate of fantastic folderol. Compared to the privations endured by the victims of Hitler's fiendish persecutions, they are less than pin pricks; let's treat them as such and march onward banners flying.—A. Merriam Conner.

WRECK OF THE HUN HESPERUS

News in Verse Over KJBS
Written by Harley M. Leete, Jr.

The Germans had a dark horse:
They haven't any more!
Their battle fleet is wrecked, of course,
Though not on ocean's floor.

Their fleet has taken such a mounding,
That it's due for long repairs.
We hear Britain's cheers resounding;
Now we'll see what Hitler dares.

Six boats, on Russian shipping
Had been assigned to raid.
Now maybe Hitler's slipping,
With his plans in ashes laid.

At Trondheim, stricken Norway's port,
Are the Tirpitz, Hipper, Scheer.
Just three lone boats to make retort,
To triumphant Britain's jeer.

The Scharnhorst, Eugen, Gneisenau,
Lay wounded in the docks.
They're marked from battered stern to prow,
With bomb's distinctive pocks.

It seems the Axis brains had schemed,
A great, world-wide attack.
But apparently they had not dreamed,
How they'd be beaten back!

The Huns would attack our deep sea lanes,
And advance on Russia, too.
Japan would press to greater gains,
And the Wops begin anew.

But the Straits of Dover were too rough,
With British bomb and gun:
The German navy found it tough—
And was ruined on that run!

So now that Hitler's dark horse,
In docks does rot and rust,
Our motto should be this, of course!
"We'll take Berlin, or bust!"

From where I sit . . .

by Joe Marsh

WHENEVER I hear about anybody having a big family I think of Dad and Ma Hoskins. The Hoskins' had thirteen children.

They weren't a bad bunch of kids, by and large — but it seemed one or the other of them would always be having a fuss with the neighbors, or would break a window playing baseball, or some other kid trick. Kept Dad and Ma mighty busy all the time.

One day Dad got a bright idea. He called the whole family together for a special meeting at the dinner table.

He told them he was tired of checking up on them all the time. He said he thought they were old enough now to check up on themselves. The older children would watch the younger ones. They would have meetings every so often and hand out rewards or punishments.

Well, it was a crazy idea but the kids liked it and they started behaving better than they ever had before. The idea worked and Dad finally did get a little time for himself.

I mention this story about Dad Hoskins because it's something like what I understand the beer industry is doing to regulate itself.

As I see it, most of the beer industry behaves itself perfectly all right . . . but every now and then, I guess, a retailer comes along who runs a place that isn't up to scratch . . . sort of like a wayward kid.

So like Dad Hoskins' family, the brewers and beer distributors have united together in an industry self-regulation program to help the proper authorities "clean up or close up" offending retail places.

The brewers, who want to protect beer's good name, cooperate wisely with the authorities who enforce the laws.

From where I sit, that's a fine thing for the brewers to do . . . particularly when you realize that after all they're really not responsible for retailing conditions.

WAR BOND AND STAMP PLEDGE DRIVE TO START

Nevada City's Victory pledge campaign, designed to obtain a definite commitment from all residents of the city on how much they can invest in War Bonds and Stamps, will get under way in a few days with Red Cross workers assisting the local War Savings Committee in the drive.

The Nevada County May quota has been set at $52,000 and Nevada City must subscribe to a large portion of that total.

The pledge workers are required to keep information strictly confidential. The pledge cards will be forwarded to the treasury office in San Francisco.

Following are the volunteer workers in each district (Red Cross): District 1, Mrs. Bert Foreman and Mrs. Paul Kemer; District 2, Mrs. Helen Berger and Mrs. Emily Kyler; District 3, Mrs. Ed Uren and Mrs. Kate Smith; District 4, Mrs. Russell Wilson and Mrs. Al Bates; District 5, Mrs. Louise Polglase and Mrs. Ethel Polglase; District 6, Frank Leong (Chinese Merchants only); District 7, Mrs. Walter St. John and Mrs. Wm. Young; District 8, Mrs. Vera Steger; District 9, Gold Flat (volunteer wanted); District 10, Mrs. G. E. Mitchell; District 11, Mrs. Len Lageson and Mrs. E. Skeahan.

The Ridge road will be canvassed by Mrs. Ward Sheldon; Willow Valley by Mrs. Charles Genasci and Mrs. Theodore Nelson; Lake Vera section by Mrs. Olive Champie; Glenbrook Heights by Paul L. Kemer. Volunteers are also wanted for the East Ridge road and for Indian Flat.

Mrs. Alvin Walthers, vice chairman of the committee will be in charge of headquarters office in the city hall, where supplies and information may be obtained. Pledge books when filled are also to be turned in there. Volunteers who are free to help with this vital work are asked to call the chairman, Mrs. Paul Kemper, at 533.

County Registered 6,399 In Selective Service

A total of 6,399 men have been registered under Selective Service act in Nevada County according to Merle Morrison, clerk of the Selective Service board. In the first two registrations 3012 men were registered. In the third the number was 1198 and in the fourth and last 2,189. The latter group, however, were not registered for military service.

The registration would seem relatively large, since in the 1940 census the entire population of Nevada County was but 19,224.

NEVADA, PLACER AND EL DORADO COUNTIES FORM CHROME GROUP

The Tri-County Chrome Association, composed of chrome property owners in Nevada, Placer and El Dorado Counties, was organized at a meeting in Auburn this week.

The primary object of the association will be to obtain federal assistance in developing chrome deposits in the three counties and to obtain a federal stockpile in Auburn for the storage and purchase of the needed war effort mineral by the government.

Errol MacBoyle, of the Idaho-Maryland Mines Corporation and president of the state mining board, was urged in a telegram to obtain a stockpile site in Auburn. MacBoyle is in Washington, D. C., representing the California mining industry in conferences with the War Production Board and other agencies.

W. J. Hall of Auburn was elected chairman of the new association and Howard Ward, an Auburnassayer, secretary. Sheriff C. J. Tobiassen of Nevada County was elected a director.

At the invitation of H. F. Sofge, Nevada City Chamber of Commerce secretary, who with Sheriff Tobiassen represented Nevada County at the meeting, the group decided to hold its third meeting in Nevada City. The next meeting will be held at the Hotel Auburn Monday to complete the organization work.

P. O. INSPECTORS PROBE BIDDERS RESPONSIBILITY

Postal inspectors this week concluded an investigation of the responsibility of the bidders on the star route mail contract between Nevada City and Forest and Alleghany. Their findings have been sent to Washington for final action there. Four years ago the contract was let by the postoffice department to Sam R. Bedwell. He has the contract at $4,188 per year. This expires June 30. When new bids were called for early this year, Bedwell put in a bid of $4,800, while Frank Davies, Nevada City councilman, put in a bid for $3,565. Some years ago Davies held the contract. The difference in the two bids is $1,235 per year.

The law under which the contracts are now awarded provides that mail contracts be let to the lowest "responsible" bidder. The word "responsible" was inserted in the law following many years of unhappy experience in letting mail contracts to the lowest bidders.

WALLACE WARE CHANGES PLANS; AFTER NEW POST

Wallace Ware, who recently announced his candidacy for governor, reconsidered after Earl Warren entered the race and now comes forth with an announcement he will seek the post of attorney-general, the position being vacated by Warren.

Ware's announcement follows:

"Since my announcement of candidacy for the office of governor, Attorney General Earl Warren has announced his candidacy for the same office. This decision of Warren will create next January a vacancy in the important law-enforcement office of attorney general, that must be filled by action of the voters in November.

"Advocates of sound government, representing all parts of California and all political parties, and upholding the principles for which I stand, urge me to realign the crusade to which I am pledged. The triumph of these principles is of supreme imporance. All personal considerations are dwarfed by comparison.

"I am now convinced that I will make my most effective contribution to the people's crusade for the redemption of California by wholehearted support to Earl Warren for governor and by offering my services for the office of attorney general.

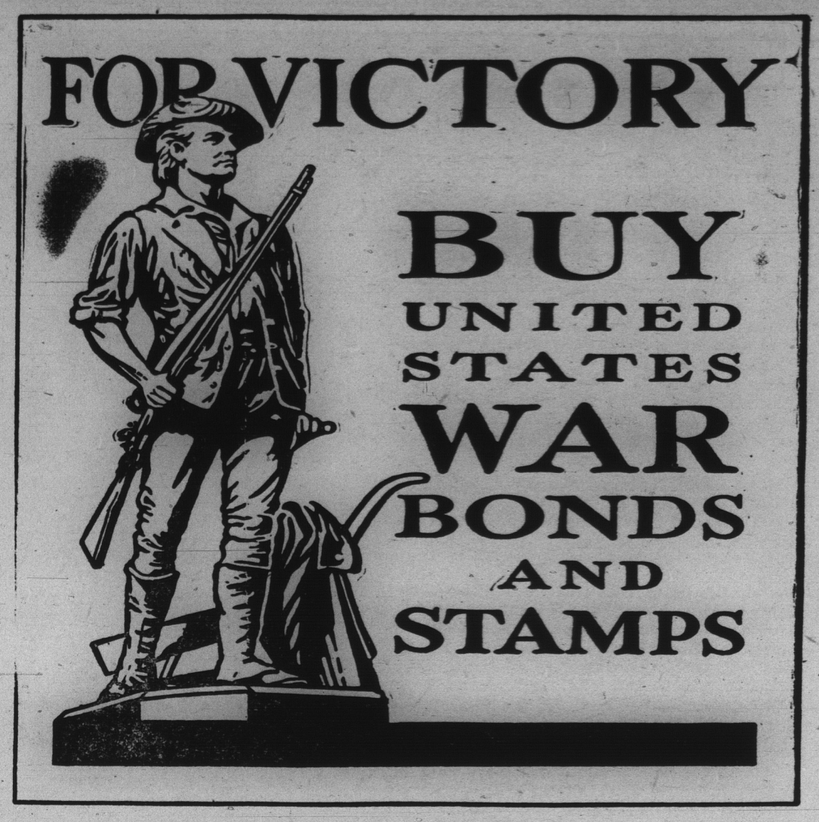

"Thus it is that I announce my candidacy for the office of attorney general, seeking both Republican and Democratic nominations.

"We must win this war. Confidence and good faith must be achieved throughout our state government. The hopes, plans and desires of individuals, groups and parties must be shaped to attain these objectives or be discarded.

"I am for industrial freedom. I am for the great cause of labor, organized or unorganized. I am for the fundamental right of every man and woman to work without the payment of tribute or fealty to any man or set of men. I am for the establishment of common honesty and mutual respect within and between the ranks of labor and management.

"Therefore, I am unalterably opposed to hot cargo, secondary boycott, or any other coercive device. I am unalterably opposed to the general application by labor racketeers of the un-American doctine of the closed shop.

"Both as candidate and public servant I shall remain staunch and loyal to these principles."

INVEST IN VICTORY!

Our boys can take the War to the enemy, if we back them up with ships and tanks and guns! But that takes money!

Help your Government to put the tools of war into the hands of our soldiers by purchasing War Savings Bonds and Stamps. And remember . . . just one Bond can't lick the Axis any more than just one gun! It takes millions of Americans buying War Savings Bonds and Stamps every pay day!

Bonds cost $18.75 and up . . . and they pay you back one-third more in only 10 years! Stamps cost 10¢, 25¢, and up . . . soon total the price of a Bond if bought regularly.

Help our boys on the fighting fronts wherever they may be! Buy War Savings Bonds as an investment for yourself and your country.

Shop for Your Ticket As You Do Your Clothes--

If you dashed willy-nilly into a clothing store, pointed to the first suit you saw and bought it, you would be sure of one thing—disappointment. Trousers and coat wouldn't fit; you wouldn't bother to try the vest. You'd probably end up by blaming the fellow that sold the suit.

You buy clothes with deliberation; you are particularly careful to take only what pleases you. That suit is probably bought days in advance to wearing it.

It's the same thing in purchasing bus or train tickets.

You are going to Plainview, Texas. A few minutes before the bus leaves you saunter into the Terminal Station for your ticket. A chap waiting to buy a ticket to Kenosha, Wis., is ahead of you. There's a lady ahead of him arranging for a ticket to Pennsylvania. It will take 12 minutes for the lady, 10 minutes for the Wisconsin-bound man. Responding to human nature you become impatient and greviously growl about "service."

There are many advantages to early ticket shopping. You learn that you may travel one way by one route and make return by another, enjoying scenic revelation. You can arrange for leisurely stop-overs and perhaps side trips. You'll enjoy the mellow satisfaction of having made good decision—when you buy your ticket in advance.

There's heavy busy travel these days and we are doing our level best to see that every passenger receives the utmost in accommodation. Buying the ticket is a small issue—but guying it early is important.

TRAVEL POINTERS—

1 Buy your tickets at least ONE DAY previous to traveling.

2 For leisurely information drop around on a Sunday; our employees are at liberty then and can chat more fully with you.

3 Find out about the different routes of (scenic round trip) travel BEFORE you start out.

4 Phone us—if you live in Nevada City call Enterprise 10506. The call is free!

5 Vacationing by bus or train? Talk is over with us—early!

We want to help you, all we possibly can. And we are sure we can do a much better job if you, Mr. and Mrs. Traveler, will buy your tickets like you buy your clothes—with advance deliberation!

The rights and obligations of a transportation company are founded upon public convenience and necessity. In peacetime convenience is of almost paramount importance. In wartime convenience must give way to necessity.
